

CIRCUS HAS GONE TO THE DOGS

The light of Sirius shines each evening on Cole Bros. Circus of the Stars, which features a score of outrageously entertaining and captivating canines.

Can-Can Dogs, under the direction of Chile's remarkable Abuhadba family, prove that no matter what their size, poodles are peerless performers, whether dressed to the "K-9s" in sparkling costumes, or garbed in sporty attire to exchange pooch punches in a comical boxing match.

Appearing sans wardrobe like Olympic athletes of old are Craig Rogers delightful flying disc dogs that make the audience have almost as much fun as they do while in pursuit of soaring plastic platters. Even the audience gets into the act, when Rogers invites members to attempt the impossible: outwit a determined pup trained to intercept each disc in flight.

Along with ponies, camels, elephants, and an outstanding human cast of aerialists, acrobats and clowns, Cole Bros. Circus canine cohorts ensure that everyone attending the circus will enjoy a "doggone" good time.
